

Viggo Knackstredt is a registered Architect with an additional degree in Master of Planning. He has more than 30 years experience in architectural design and has recently been involved in project management and planning.

Registration certifies that an architect is a qualified, experienced professional bound by the professional and ethical conduct requirements of the Architects Act 2003. It identifies to consumers of architectural services those persons who have met the qualification requirements set down in the Act.

As a professional architect and planner Viggo maintains the highest ethical and professional standards through participation in the continuous professional development programme established by the Board of Architects and via exposure to the current debate as a member of the Institute of Architects.

Over the years he has been involved with a wide variety of projects including residential, commercial, retail, educational, leisure, public and community type projects and has held various positions including design architect, assistant architect, project architect, project coordinator and office manager before establishing his own practice in 1990.

Viggo is an expert in design of child care centres and has used his wife, Mimi Wellisch, as a consultant. Mimi is an early childhood expert and psychologist.
